

Memo from
JOSHUA LEDERBERG

To: Ron Rosen

DEC 2 1971

suggestion

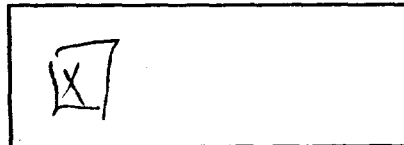

I assume that this is essentially a form letter.

It might be more useful still (both as politics and as statesmanship) if it included some additional phrases like....

I understand that such awards are a significant testimonial of your own peers' and colleagues' confidence in your expertise and judgment in your special field of interest. It would help me in ~~the~~ fulfilling my own responsibilities in the U.S. Senate if I could have the benefit of your views, particularly on issues where your expertise is most germane. Please do not hesitate to write to me, or to telephone my associates in California on any such questions, or any others, where you may be able to help in the task of resolving some of the complex issues that face us in the Congress.

as your elected representative

• for people not already in close communication with you

PROFESSOR JOSHUA LEDERBERG
Department of Genetics
School of Medicine
Stanford University
Stanford, California 94305